The history of the Irish language begins with the period from the arrival of speakers of Celtic languages in Ireland to Ireland's earliest known form of Irish, Primitive Irish, which is found in Ogham inscriptions dating from the 3rd or 4th century AD. After the conversion to Christianity in the 5th century, Old Irish begins to appear as glosses and other marginalia in manuscripts written in Latin, beginning in the 6th century. It evolved in the 10th century to Middle Irish. Early Modern Irish r

Although the Milesians are said to have invaded Ireland from Spain, their origins lie further east. The story of the Milesians begins with a legendary Scythian king by the name of Feinius Farsaid, who was involved in the construction of the Tower of Babel. His son was Nel, who married Scota, the daughter of an Egyptian pharaoh.
